

“All people, no matter where they live, no matter what their age, have a right to access high quality and affordable healthcare.”

Health as an Organizing Principle for Urban Design

William A Haseltine Chair and President
ACCESS Health International

Health and wellness as an organizing principle has profound implications for urban design

A focus on health and wellness is a focus on the environment and on a green city

A focus on health and wellness is a focus on healthy life style and recreation

A focus on health and wellness is a focus on youth and age friendly transportation systems

A focus on health and wellness is a focus on youth and age friendly urban design

A focus on health and wellness is a focus on the creation of a “Smart City”. Today’s prevention and healthcare systems demand comprehensive real time information networks

A focus on health and wellness is a focus on the design of youth and age friendly housing

A focus on health and wellness can dramatically reduce the total costs of healthcare

Network Diagram of an Integrated Healthcare System

Thank You

www.accessh.org